

Introducing food into your landscape

Edible landscaping or foodscaping is a new term for an old practice of creating multi-functional garden spaces that are both beautiful and productive.

PROS

- New challenges
- Food security
- Biodiversity
- Accessibility
- Multi-functional

CONS

- More planning required
- Must keep up with harvest and succession planting to maintain appearance

WINNING VARIETIES

All- American Selections

- Pansy Morpho
- Pansy XL Red-Gold
- Swiss Chard Bright Lights
- Nasturtium Baby Rose
- Tomato Lizzano
- Pepper Cayennetta
- Basil Persian

National Gardening Bureau

- Allium Autumn Bee Attraction
- Basil Everleaf Emerald Towers
- Blueberry Bountiful Blue
- Blueberry Midnight Cascade
- Fig Little Miss Figgy
- Lemon Balm Limoncello
- Kale Rainbow Candy Crush
- Mexican Anise Dropshot
- Pepper Hot Burrito

RESOURCES

<https://beauty.provenwinners.com/edible-flower-guide/>
<https://eising.ca/incorporating-vegetables-into-your-garden/>
<https://joegardener.com/podcast/foodscaping-how-to-create-an-edible-lanscape/>

Contact your local garden centre for products discussed today.